Wednesday afternoon to attend the meeting of the board of trustees of the college of which His Excellency is the president. The governor spent the greater part of the afternoon in reviewing the building and grounds. He was very much impressed with the football squads going through their practice in preparation for their game with Rhode Island state next Saturday. The first reception to a governor to be held in the new Hawley armory was given to Governor Holcomb Wednesday night by the faculty.

The governor gave a short address in chapel Thursday morning on the impressions the college has made on him and the opportunities that an agricultural education affords a young man today. His first visit to Connecticut Aggies was made in 1893, while he was a member of the state senate. At that time the college was only ten years old and in consequence there was a scarcity of buildings, equipment and students. This last visit of the governor was his second. He found a vastly different place with commodious buildings, modern equipment and a lively, intelligent student hody. Governor Holcomb expressed himself as belleving that for remunerment and a lively, intelligent student body. Governor Holcomb expressed himself as believing that for remuneration and an independent career, agriculture affords about as perfect a course as one could follow.

E. Kent Hubbard Jr. of Middletown, a trustee of the college, followed Governor Holcomb with a few remarks on the advancement of the athletic phase of the college. He believes that a united effort on the part of all the elements of the student body is necessary for the success of the teams.

Colonel Charles M. Jarvis also a trustee appke a few words on present day agricultural progress.

Chairman Lee read an extract from a trade paper showing the highly successful experience with Merchants week in Paterson, N. J. It was as follows:

Aggressively advertised the Paterson Merchants week held by the Chamber of Commerce of Paterson, N. J., exceeded all expectations, breaking even Christmas records. It occurred during last week and gave general satisfaction.
Since organizing a bureau of retail affairs in the chamber of commerce last June, the Paterson merchants have most enthusiastically cooperated and arranged for window display with the words "Norwich Merchants" Week, Oct. 23 to 30, Trade in Norwich." All the merchants who are in this co-operative trading event for Norwich will display these special posters in their windows attracting attention to this progressive movement for the purpose of demonstrating the importance of Norwich as a shopping center for the eastern part of the state, and ago to the special values they are offering for both.

Flags to Fly.

With the report was a recommendation that on Saturday, the first day of Merchants' week, all business houses and the citizens display American flags as a symbol of wefcome to those who will visit the city from the surrounding country. By doing so it will be an indication of a unity of purpose; a bigger and better Norwich.

This recommendation was discussed and adopted.

John M. Lee, general chairman, presided at the meeting, and after the report of Mr. Lewis a report was made by W. Russell Baird, chairman of the committee on attractions. son and her stores was especially no-ticeable in that not a merchant's name was mentioned, nor was the price or description of an article given.

over 40 out-of-town papers, reached nearly 2,000,000 readers.

As proof of the beneficial effects of the event on local trade the merchants point to the fact that the banks reported much heavier deposits than ever before at this time of the year, and the trolley car lines and steam railroads centering in Paterson, report the heaviest traffic they have known for a long time.
